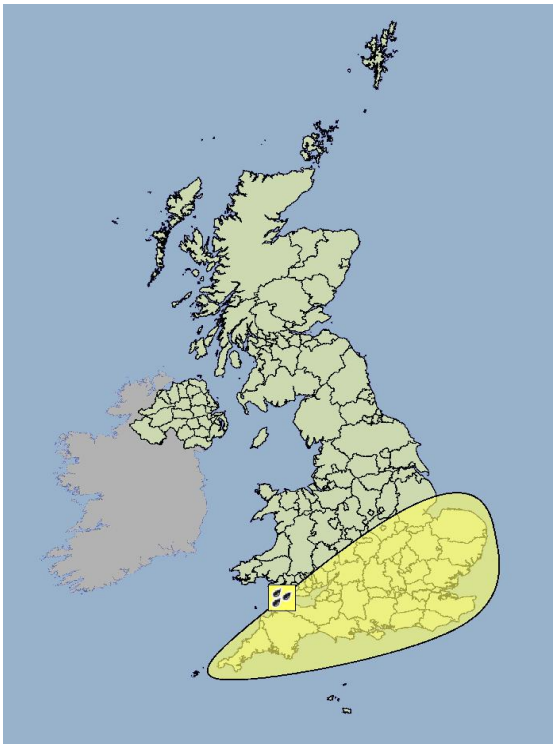
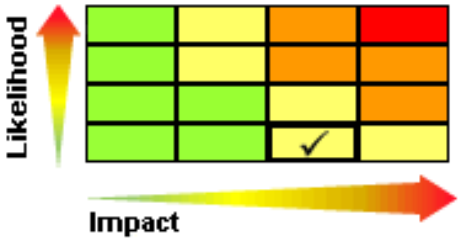
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Torrential rain and thunderstorms could give as much as 30mm, possibly 40mm in an hour in places. It is not certain where flooding impacts may occur, but it is likely to be in a few places rather than across the whole warning area.

Lightning strikes are also possible, which bring a chance of power cuts.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 12:00 on Sun, 28th May 2017 until 12:00 on Mon, 29th May 2017

Another band of heavy rain is likely to spread northward through Sunday into Monday, with some locally torrential downpours and thunder possible.

There are early indications that this could result in some disruption, with sudden flooding of roads, transport routes, homes and businesses possible. Please monitor forecasts through this weekend.
